Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Gettysburg People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headache and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Gettysburg proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. N. L. Wierman, 135 York St., Gertysburg, Pa., says: "I suffered a great deal from backache and I often had nervous spells. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a supply at the People's Drug Store and commenced their use. The backache was relieved and my entire system was benefited. Lgiadly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and advise other kidney suffer-

Si, the Siwash,

In a Wreck on Puget Sound

By JOHN H. WALSH Cepyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Si is lying on my bunk, wrapped in my Gr ad Army coat. His name really ain't Si; it's fom But I call bim Si which is short for Siwash-a Siwash being a Paget sound Indian.

Si is a Siwash all right, and, though he's only four years old and he's a half breed, he looks like old Chief Scattle. And he treats me as an equal-and he gets away with it, too-though I'm sixty-nine. That shows character. And Si's had experience!

Take just this collision experience That won't come to anybody else for ten thousand years, and here Si has had it before he's four

Why, I have had enough adventures myself, for I've been ship keeper on the U.S. S. Stalwart here at the Sierra navy yard for fifteen and three-quarter years. But Si has me sewed up for tell yarns of my own.

But first I'm setting it down about Si, his ma and the collision of the Humahuma and the Stalwart. Th tell about myself when I've got leisure.

However, I do want to say in pass ing, where I think of it, that ship keeping is the most exacting work there is. You have to know the nam of your ship, and to remember what, along. I mang it again and again, and day is pay day, and when to come of them a frail skiff with a half grown watch, and when to go on, and I tell boy in it appeared alongside out of you it takes brains to keep all those the fog. things straight in your mind.

Then once in a year they complicate boy. things by putting your ship in a drydock or by changing her anchorage a little, and you have to change your habits, which is hard. And it's be cause it is such exacting work as I've described that they always keep responsible men like us old soldiers or such jobs.

Of course it's a strain, and I suppose I could not have held the job so long M I didn't have from nerves.

You see, I know myself that I have iron nerves, because General Thomas told me so when he saw me eating hardtack in a trench during the Chick amauga skirmish. And I've needed my iron nerves in ship keeping, but a lot of people don't understand why.

For example, there is a gentleman in Sierraton who digs clams with a shovel and peddles them with a wheel barrow, and he said once he thought he'd try ship keeping for a rest.

I laughed at him, and then I warned him he couldn't stand it, which was rrue too. However, I'm writing about Si, and I'll write about digging clams when I have time for it, for I'm as good a clam digger as there is on Puget sound, which is saying a lot for all the smartest men out here were digging clams twenty years ago.

Si's ma used to have an awfully bard time making a living, and from time to time I've helped her a little at it, for Eve had $2.20 per day right along, and I'm a bachelor and don't need all that money for myself.

So yesterday, which was pay day. gave ber $5, and I said, "Take Si to Seattle and see the sights." And she did it.

At least she put on her pink waist and her green shawl, and she hauled Si down to the boat by one arm, his feet dragging all the way.

After that I loafed around until even ing, when I went to the Stalwart and relieved old man Keller. After he'd left the ship I walked around and inspected things, as I al ways do, and I decided, as I've decided every day for ten years, that the Stai wart is still a mighty fine ship. Pretty soon I moved around a little and when I got aft and was looking over the rail under the stern light l could see young smelts in the still, only water, and they looked like shreds cut out with la knife from a silver bar And, oh, how solemn and still it was: You could hear a gasoline boat two miles away thumping, missing strokes, stopping and then thumping again, and you could hear onriocks squeaking their course across the bay.

At first it was clear overhead, and I rould see the stars and the lights at the many yard, and I could hear the sentries half people in load, important, voices. At I then the Halits foded and blinked out, one by one, and I knew for was similar in the sea. And the sounds so mod som of a officed by the
